Poster Rubric

Criteria	Great - 5	Good - 3	Poor – 1	Absent - 0
Title /5	The title of the display clearly shows the discovery being illustrated and is easy to read	The title is good, but hard to read		No title
Graphical Display /30	The pictures are neat and clearly illustrate what they are meant to. Pictures are easy to interpret	Most pictures are neat and clearly illustrate what they are meant to. Pictures are easy to interpret	Some pictures are neat and clearly illustrate what they are meant to. Pictures are easy to interpret	For some reason no pictures are used in a graphical display
Display Flow /20	The pictures flow together nicely to tell the story of the discovery	The pictures are nice, but sometimes it is hard to tell how they fit together to tell the story.	There is little to no flow to the pictures. The pictures to not do a very good job at telling the story of the discovery.	There is no story of a discovery. The pictures just illustrate without telling a story
Picture Captions /20	The picture captions are short and just aid in giving important information about the picture. The captions are legible and easy to read	A couple of captions are too wordy or are not easy to read, or captions were necessary, but absent from a picture.	Captions are very wordy. The display is no longer graphical, but an essay glued to a backboard	There are no captions for the project at all causing confusion in the viewer.
References /10	References are clearly listed on back and are easy to read. At least 3 references were used	References are clearly listed on back and are easy to read. Less than 3 references were used	References are illegible or just scribbled on the back without any care	References missing
Formatting /15	Display is eye-catching and well put together. Care was obviously taken when creating the display in order to be as creative as possible	Some care was taken when putting together the project, but there are some issues which take away from the overall impression of the display	Project was thrown together and there is no creativity at all in how the information is displayed	